

Berry Hopes to Avert Labor Split Between Craft, Rebel Unions

President's Coordinator for Industrial Cooperation Proposes Arbitration Between Green and Lewis.

EXPULSION MOVE

President Frey of Metal Trades Department Moves to Have 10 Unions Expelled.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 14 (AP).—George L. Berry, President Roosevelt's coordinator for industrial cooperation, today proposed arbitration to prevent the threatened split in the American Federation of Labor.

Berry, also president of the Printing Pressmen's Union and of Labor's Non-Partisan League, told reporters labor always had insisted upon arbitration in its scraps with employers and now should use it in its own internal feuds.

Berry dropped this proposal into a pre-convention atmosphere charged with determination of craft union leaders to oust from the federation John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and his ten rebel unions.

The federation's metal trades department instructed John P. Frey, its president, to introduce a resolution at the convention, starting Monday, calling for expulsion of the rebels.

William Green, federation president, in two speeches roared his disapproval of Lewis' tactics, predicted that the rebellion would collapse, and said that when the unorganized were brought into unions, the A. F. of L. would do the job.

Says Federation Failed.

Lewis and his allies set up the committee for industrial organization last fall, blaming the federation for failure to bring into its ranks the more than 4,000,000 not affiliated with the A. F. of L. Lewis said this failure was due largely to the federation's policy of organization by craft. His committee set out to bring all the workers in each big industry into one big union. The A. F. of L. executive council then suspended ten Lewis unions, with about 1,000,000 members, for "insurrection."

Even Lewis' friends here agreed today expulsion seemed probable. The committee for industrial organization's admission to membership last week of the United Radio and Electrical Workers and the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipyard Workers, both denied A. F. of L. charters, appeared to have intensified the feeling of the rebels.

Berry, however, quietly talked with the craft union leaders about his arbitration proposal, and hoped that either another peace move would break a deadlock that all sides agreed would mean a long and bitter war.

Berry emphasized he spoke as a labor man, not as a federal official. The Frey expulsion move will go to the convention's resolutions committee headed by Matthew Wolf, a federation vice-president and vice-president of the Photo-Engravers Union.

A committee report to the convention probably will be made late next week or early the next week of the sessions.

Council Meets Today

The federation's executive council was slated to meet today, but any action on the rebellion was improbable. The council will submit to the convention Monday its report on the suspensions and ask for approval.

Green predicted the approval vote would be overwhelming. The Lewis faction controlled about one-third of the voters at last year's convention. Most of these came from unions now suspended.

Considerable discussion about the gathering delegates was evoked by the election yesterday of Charles P. Howard, president of the Typographical Union and secretary of the Lewis committee, as a vice-president of the federation's union label trades department.

At the same time, the metal trades department decided to use stationery printed by non-union labor until the Typographical Union forces Howard out of the Lewis committee.

Posters Denounce Hitler

Paris, Nov. 14 (AP).—Thousands of Communist posters plastered to walls all over Paris today denounced Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler as an "assassin." The city was placarded to rally leftists to a mass meeting tonight to demonstrate against the execution of Edgar Andre, German Communist whose death November 6 aroused a storm of protest in France and England. Andre's widow was scheduled to appear at the meeting which was arranged largely under Communist auspices although Socialists and radical Socialists were listed among the speakers.

High Army Officer Charged In Slaying

Surprise Autopsy Held on Body in Blue Grass Murder Case Authorities Keeping Secret Findings after Exhuming Body of Attractive Vera Garr Taylor—Flamenco Charged With Murder.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14 (AP).—Authorities kept secret today their findings in an unexpected autopsy last night of the body of attractive Vera Garr Taylor, victim of a mysterious Kentucky bluegrass shooting. Her fiancée, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, is charged with murder in connection with her death.

The body was quickly and quietly exhumed from the grave in which it was placed last Sunday. Seven automobiles occupied by men whose names were not immediately learned, followed the hearse to a La Grange, Ky., funeral home. There behind darkened windows a two hour examination was conducted by Coroner D. L. Ricketts, of Henry county and Police Sgt. John L. Messner, Louisville, criminologist, who has been assisting in the investigation. Then the body was reburied.

The action caught counsel for Denhardt, former lieutenant governor and adjutant general of Kentucky, off guard.

"Why, I didn't know that was done," said Beckham Overstreet, one of the defense attorneys. "Are you sure?" He added he would have sought representation had he known of the plans.

May Ask Second Autopsy

Earlier, Overstreet said the defense would give exhumation of the body "immediate attention," and assigned his office force to briefing Kentucky law on autopsies. He declined to comment on the possibility of the defense asking for a second exhumation before Denhardt's examining trial at New Castle, Ky., November 20.

Mrs. Taylor, 40-year-old La Grange widow, and described as one of central Kentucky's most beautiful women, was found shot to death in a roadside ditch in Henry county the night of November 6. A .45 caliber revolver, belonging to Denhardt, lay nearby.

The general explained to the coroner that he and Mrs. Taylor had been motoring and their automobile stalled. While waiting for a battery to be brought from La Grange, his companion walked up the road seeking a "lost slave."

Ricketts quoted him as saying he believed Mrs. Taylor took the gun from her car and killed herself, adding that her two young daughters opposed their engagement.

Planned Marriage Soon

Friends of Denhardt said the couple, who had been going to marry since last June, had planned to be married soon.

The general was arrested Thursday in a dramatic scene in the New Castle court house after he declined "on advice of my counsel" to testify at an inquest. The warrant was sworn by Mr. E. S. Garr, brother of Mrs. Taylor.

Bond of $25,000 was provided by Mr. Arthur T. McCormick, head of the Kentucky Health department and president of the American Public Health Association.

Plan Consolidation of ERB and Public Welfare Board to Reduce Cost

Will Join Welfare Agencies of City Under One Head—May Move Its Offices to the City Home.

HOSPITALIZATION

Combination of Boards Expected To Reduce Sharply Rising Costs in City Welfare Work.

Plans to consolidate the local emergency relief bureau with the Board of Public Welfare in order to co-ordinate under one head all of the welfare work of the city including home relief, medical services, hospitalization, adult care, old age relief and care of children, are now underway. If the plans mature the local ERB located in the former Palen plant on Broadway, adjoining the Y. M. C. A., will be moved to the City Home.

The consolidating of the two relief bureaus of one head can be easily accomplished as the members of the local ERB also comprise the membership of the Board of Public Welfare.

At the present time and for years past the superintendent of the City Home and Board of Public Welfare has maintained his residence in one of the wings of the City Home, using 11 rooms for his living apartments. Under the plans as considered the living rooms on the lower floor of the wing will be used as administrative offices for carrying on relief work in the city. Some remodeling will be necessary.

The city's bill for hospital and convalescent care of needy persons in the city is reported to be considerably higher than in other cities of the size of Kingston, and it is being planned to establish an infirmary in the City Home where convalescent cases may be cared for.

To Visit Poughkeepsie

Thursday afternoon Mayor C. J. Heffelman and the members of the Board of Public Welfare will go to Poughkeepsie to inspect the infirmary maintained by the welfare department of that city.

It was stated this morning that the hospital bill for the care of needy persons in the city this year will amount to $25,000 and in addition to that the sum of $12,000 will be expended for convalescent care in the three nursing homes in the city, a total of $37,000.

It is expected that the plan to consolidate the ERB with the Board of Public Welfare will reduce considerably the cost of administering relief in the city as the overhead will be cut down as no rent will have to be paid for headquarters, and also of administering relief will be reduced without working a hardship on any needy person in the city.

In case the former Palen plant is taken over by the federal government to be used as a temporary post office while the Central Post Office is being remodeled and enlarged the ERB will have to vacate the premises and will be immediately moved to the City Home.

Vessel Explosion Belief

Quebec, Nov. 14 (AP).—An unidentified vessel was believed to have exploded and burst into flames early today three miles off Cape Sable, 80 miles below Quebec. Residents of Cape Sable who saw a blaze before dawn believed it came from a distressed coastal schooner. Observers at the signal service station reported flames were sweeping over the ship but were unable to determine the fate of the crew.

Clark Howell, Georgia Editor, Politician Dies at Atlanta Today After Long Illness

Atlanta, Nov. 14 (AP).—Clark Howell, 73, editor and president of the Atlanta Constitution and Democratic national committeeman from Georgia, died at his home today following a long illness from an intestinal disorder.

Bedfast for eight weeks, he underwent two operations, the latest one last week. He died at 6:15 a. m. (C. S. T.).

A pioneer in the formation of "Roosevelt-for-President" Clubs, Howell maintained an active interest in national and state politics until the end.

He was chosen last June to succeed Governor Eugene Talmadge as the state's Democratic committeeman, a position he had held from 1926 to 1932.

A one-time supporter of Talmadge, Howell broke with the Governor when the latter launched an attack on farm and relief policies of the New Deal.

Although the editor opposed Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., for the Senate in 1932, he lined up with him for reelection against Governor Talmadge in the September 8 primary, throwing the columns of the Constitution into the fight. Russell was re-elected by a vote of landslide proportions.

Nazis to Command All Rivers in Germany

Berlin, Nov. 14 (AP).—Germany assumed command of her rivers today, notifying signatories of the Treaty of Versailles that the internationalization clause is no longer valid.

River traffic henceforth will be subject to German regulation, the Third Reich asserted.

The river internationalization clause of the Treaty of Versailles was in part inspired by the desire to provide access to the sea for landlocked countries such as Switzerland and Czechoslovakia, which are the source of rivers leading to the ocean.

International commissions were set up to control the Rhine, Oder, Elbe, Niemen and Danube.

The result was that Germany was in a minority in the control of three rivers regarded as typically German, the Rhine, Oder, and Elbe.

The Kiel Canal was in effect internationalized to give freedom of access to all vessels of any country in peace or war but, subject to this condition, was placed under German administration.

Access to the sea was obtained by providing free zones for Czechoslovakia in the harbors of Hamburg and Stettin.

Orchard Terracel Inn Near New Paltz Now Divine Cult Owned

Stamp Tax Indicates $7,000 was Paid for Property—Other Purchases of Father Divine's Followers.

Orchard Terrace Inn, a three-story boarding house located on the New Paltz-Highland road, near the New Paltz-Lloyd town line, has been purchased by followers of Father Divine, the Harlem evangelist. Title to the property was taken Thursday when a deed was filed in the county clerk's office. The consideration named in the deed is $1 but the stamp tax paid was $7, indicating that the purchase price is $7,000.

The property was formerly the Olive C. Elting place at Elting's Corners, but of late had been operated by Ean and Van Demark as a boarding house. The deed of transfer was from Adolph J. Trainor to Charlotte Becker of New York, Grace Faith, Mary Davis and Wonderful Peace of 234 West 123rd street, New York. The property is located close to the Lloyd cemetery. The acreage is small.

Deeds were also filed at the same time for two additional properties, one the Anna L. O'Neill property at High Falls, which was conveyed to Charlotte Becker and Faith Love. This is the bakery property at High Falls which the Divine followers have had possession of for some time. The amount mentioned in the deed was $1, but the transfer tax stamp attached indicated a price of $3,000. Title also passed from Herman A. Bennink and wife of the town of Woodstock to Mercy Light of New York, Charlotte Becker of Highland, Madeline Treadwell of New York and Agriella Matthews of New Paltz, a parcel of land on the West Saugerties-Woodstock road in the town of Woodstock. This is the Bennink farm which it was announced some time ago had been followed by Divine followers. The stamp tax indicates a payment of $6,500.

A. A. Madison of 43 West 130th street, New York, an attorney who has represented Divine on various occasions, appeared as counsel in the transactions.

Local people feel that with this situation facing them and also with the knowledge that already one of the so-called "angels" of Father Divine has died in Ulster county and been buried at public expense, that without positive proof that the institution would be financially responsible, would be bringing to Ulster county additional expense should the corporation become financially unsound. Not only is the opposition going to be directed toward the additional expense to taxpayers in the event the inmates of the home become public charges but there will also be opposition on the grounds that already Ulster county has a great deal of tax exempt property now devoted to "charitable" or "religious" purposes and any additional taxation of the county by "charitable" organizations would cast an additional tax burden on the taxpayer by removing further taxable property from the tax rolls and placing it on the exempt list.

Financial Proof

Another stand which will be taken by some of the opposition at the hearing will be that even though the board feels that the application should be granted, it should be granted only after it has been definitely shown by positive proof that the applicants can finance the enterprise and continue to do so without the help.

The fact that Judge Traver is judge of the children's court of the county brings him officially into the interested class as it would be before his court that any action would have to be taken in case of juvenile delinquency or in the event the children brought to the county became a public charge.

New Paltz C. of C. and County Officials Will Oppose Divine Plans

New Paltz Residents Choose Edward Elmore to Oppose Plan of Divine Followers to Establish Children's Home.

COUNTY INTERESTED

Judge Traver Will be Represented by N. Le Van Haver—Oppose Tax Exemption.

Residents of the village of New Paltz and other citizens of the county will be represented Monday afternoon in New York city at a public hearing held on the application of followers of Father Divine for the establishment of a membership corporation, the purposes of which are to establish a home for children in Ulster county.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of New Paltz held Friday evening, Edward Elmore was appointed a committee of one to represent the New Paltz Chamber at the hearing Monday and oppose the application. Other organizations will also be represented. Peter Harp, attorney for the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, was authorized by the body to write a letter stating the views of the citizens of the village in opposition to the application. Mr. Harp will be unable to personally attend due to the fact that he will be engaged in court at Albany that day.

An application was recently made to the State Board of Social Welfare for the right to form a membership corporation to be known as Peninah children's Home, Inc., the purposes of which are to establish, maintain, operate and conduct a home for children. The principal office of the corporation would be located in Ulster county. The application did not state where the office would be located or where the home might be. The home requested, it has been learned, was to be a part of the Father Divine development and the initiators of the home are said to be followers of the Harlem negro. No distinction as to race or color is indicated by the application.

Victor F. Ridder has been appointed chairman of a committee of the State Board of Social Welfare to conduct a public hearing on the application Monday afternoon, November 16, at 2 o'clock, at Room 817 in the State Office Building at 80 Center street, New York city.

Oppose Gains Here

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in New Paltz Friday evening the members of the organization expressed opposition to the gains which the Divine organization had already made in Ulster county and in the locality of New Paltz.

Among those who were notified of the public hearing Monday in New York was County Judge Frederick G. Traver, judge of the Children's Court of Ulster county. Judge Traver will be engaged in trial work in county court Monday afternoon and unable to attend the public hearing. However he has arranged to be represented at the hearing by Assistant District Attorney N. Le Van Haver. Mr. Haver will also appear in the capacity as representative of his own office and will oppose the granting of the application.

Opposition to the granting of the application is not being made on the grounds of color but because it is felt that if the orphanage is located in Ulster county it will inflict additional tax burdens on the taxpayers of the county. This action is being taken on the theory that Father Divine has been involved in several legal matters of late in New York and at those hearings has consistently denied that he has any funds with which to meet judgments or pay bills. Local people feel that with this situation facing them and also with the knowledge that already one of the so-called "angels" of Father Divine has died in Ulster county and been buried at public expense, that without positive proof that the institution would be financially responsible, would be bringing to Ulster county additional expense should the corporation become financially unsound. Stung to Fury, General Miaja Orders Annihilation of 50,000 Rebels, Following Aerial Attack Upon Madrid Today.

PLAZA CROWDED

One Bomb Blew Hole Through "Bombproof" Subway Shelter; Madrid is Enheartened.

Madrid, Nov. 14 (AP).—Insurgent bombers, unloading high explosives into a thronged Madrid plaza, killed an estimated 53 persons and wounded 150 others today.

This estimate of the dead was announced at 4 p. m. by relief workers. The aerial attackers dropped eight explosive missiles, five of which fell into a throng in the Glorieta Atocha plaza where a defense mass meeting was being held.

Stung to fury by the raid, Madrid's defense commander ordered his armies to "wipe out 50,000 of the enemy."

"Before you are Rebel armies, about 50,000 strong," proclaimed Gen. Jose Miaja. "Smash through them! Wipe them out!"

He ordered a relentless drive on the besiegers of Madrid a few hours after the air raid, one of the most disastrous of the siege of the city. The force of the explosions was felt in the United States embassy where more than 50 American nationals have taken refuge from the assaults on Madrid.

The crowded plaza was turned into a scene of horrors by the blast which shook the capital to its foundations.

The assembly had been called to hear plans for the defense of Madrid.

25 Killed Outright

Officials estimated at least 25 persons were killed outright. Many others suffered wounds which were expected to prove fatal.

The power of the bombs was demonstrated by the fact one blew a large hole through the roof of a subway which had been considered a bombproof shelter.

Two huge stone columns in front of the ministry of public works were toppled by the blast.

Water mains, shattered by the explosions sent streams high into the air.

The area was roped off while trucks rushed the injured to hospitals.

Two other bombs fell near the Hotel Nacional and one near the government barracks on Maria Cristina street. Several more exploded near the Segovia bridge.

First reports said the attack was made by three tri-motored Fascist planes which appeared suddenly over the scene and scattered the deadly missiles into the crowd without warning.

Throngs Scatter

The throngs scattered but in their hasty flight the blasting steel cut them down.

Bodies of men, women and children, many of them maimed beyond recognition, lay in the streets beside the carcasses of horses and mules. Wounds, suffering from shrapnel wounds, were unable to move, moaning for help.

Those unhurt scattered pell mell through the side streets opening on the plaza, which is located in the southeastern part of Madrid.

Every window in the vicinity was shattered; several apartments were wrecked and the ornate facade of the ministry of public works was damaged badly.

Ironically, the meeting in the plaza had been called off at the instigation by its organizers. However, hundreds of persons, unaware of the change in plans, had gathered when the bombers appeared.

Anti-aircraft guns fired at the planes, but apparently did not hit them.

Red Cross authorities, using ambulances and large trucks to remove the bodies, said at least 25 were killed and probably 150 wounded, many of them women and children.

Daring Socialist line-men, slanting telephone wires amid burning insurgent shells, virtually severed communications between Madrid and its suburbs today.

The women labored fearfully in the half-light of burning bridges as artillery shells from insurgent batteries crashed around them and private wires were cut.

Opposing troops drawn up behind strong fortifications along the Manzanares river maintained continuous machine gun and rifle fire through out the night.

Flame spouted through the darkness from the Puerta de Hierro (Iron Gate) district in the northwest. In the lower section between the Toledo and Segovia bridges, Socialists and Fascist troops landed in back-to-back fighting.

Government machine gunners apparently pulled an insurgent plane out of the air and then continued with a similar offensive which lasted an hour and a half.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Out of West Came Redeemer Minstrel

The second annual minstrel show and dance, sponsored by the Redeemer Men's Club, was presented Friday evening in the Holy Cross Hall before a large and appreciative audience.

The curtain opened on a setting depicting "Moon Lite Eve on Bar X Ranch." In one corner of the stage was a barn with a rail fence reaching out to the other extremity of the stage and featuring the rather novel idea of the fence also forming the seats for the chorus, who were dressed in appropriate cowboy costume. In front of this setting were stationed the end men; Fred Spalt, Henry Deane, Bill Hotelling, Tom Kearney, Chet Fox, and Al Meslinger.

The opening chorus was arranged from a selection of western songs, including "Home On The Range," "Wahoo," and the "Ranger Song." This was followed by end songs, ballads, yodeling, and a concert by the newly organized Harmonica Band under the leadership of Don Hicks. Throughout this performance bits of humor were inserted to bring about a fine presentation of an evening's entertainment.

One of the highlights was an "educated cow" that amazed the audience with her knowledge of events. Another act that scored heavily with the audience was the Harmonica Band that gave a rendition played in several different keys.

The western theme was carried throughout the entire entertainment, being brought to a close with three songs, "I'm An Old Cowboy," "Old Faithful," "When It's Twilight on The Trail."

Comments heard from the audience indicated that the majority were well pleased with the Redeemer Men's endeavors to present something new and different in the way of a minstrel show.

Mauterstock Pupils In Music Recitals

Last week was a busy one for the piano and elocution pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

On Friday evening, November 6, the intermediate and Senior groups met at Miss Mauterstock's studio, 102 Home street, and gave a most interesting program.

First came a "Song" enjoyed by all with Miss Anna Gilbert and Miss Frances Stout accompanying. A short program exceptionally well rendered was as follows: Piano duet, "Up to Date March," Gabel, played by Miss Doris Johnston and Miss Mauterstock; reading, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin," Riley, Miss Mary Saddlendre; piano solo, "Valse" by Durand, played by Miss Vivian Swart; musical reading, "Willie's Prayer," Miss Peggy Lewis, accompanied by Miss Betty Rowland; piano solo, "Golden Hays," Bohm, rendered by Miss Betty Rowland.

At the conclusion of this program the pupils decided to form a club so that the work done this winter would be more effectively accomplished.

The following officers were elected: President, Clayton Brown; vice president, Miss Peggy Lewis; secretary, Miss Irene Siskind; assistant to Miss Mauterstock, Miss Florence McTague; treasurer, Miss Beatrice Mones, social hostess, Miss Frances Stout.

Plans for the coming season were discussed and formulated.

Then came perhaps the most enjoyable part of the evening's program. A music appreciation program was explained after which Mrs. LeRoy Wood gave in a unique way the story of the life of Edward MacDowell, America's great composer. The pupils appreciated and enjoyed Mrs. Wood's splendid talk. Miss Henrietta Schwalb told how MacDowell came to write "To a Wild Rose" and Mrs. Adam Thiel told the story of "To a Water Lily." Both of these numbers were then played by Miss Florence McTague.

The other numbers in the music appreciation group were: "The Scarf Dance," Chaminade, played by Clayton Brown; "Waltz in C minor," Chopin, interpreted by Miss Betty Rowland; "The Old Refrain," arranged by Kreisler and played by Miss Beatrice Mones.

A social hour was then enjoyed. Miss Shirley Fowler and Miss Lucille Kline assisting the hostess in the serving of refreshments.

On Saturday afternoon, November 7, the Junior group had their recital-party at Miss Mauterstock's studio. Every one present had some part in the program.

Perhaps the most exciting time came when the two captains were appointed and each captain chose pupils for her side. Teddy Kennedy and Anne Donovan were announced for the captaincy. A contest is now started to last until April 1. Each side will receive points for attendance and excellence in work.

After the program games were played and refreshments enjoyed.

The church was very attractively decorated, and filled to the capacity with neighbors and friends. The organist, Miss Harriet Olsen, played the Mendelssohn wedding march, and the pastor, the Rev. W. RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Throughout Ulster county workers have begun to bring this year's appeal of the Red Cross to the citizens and a very large increase in membership is expected due to the important part played by the Red Cross in the many disasters of the country since the last Roll Call.

The District of Columbia reports at the present time $2,500 Red Cross members, a tremendous increase from 43,000 last year. As Washington goes so should the entire country. Residents of Ulster county, who have never failed to respond to worthwhile appeals, can be depended upon to do their share. The national organization needs the support of all to meet the many problems that result from disasters annually and there is also need for funds here to carry on local relief work. Half of every dollar membership goes to Washington and the other half is kept for use of the local chapter.
 Ulster County Chapter is but a link in the chain of effort which bids fair to make new history in the annals of the Red Cross Roll Calls. By joining every citizen has the opportunity of sharing in the work, both local and national.

Much time, and often at a sacrifice, is devoted to the enrollment of members, workers making a house to house canvass. That these workers will receive a cordial reception when making calls, is assured.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

A Merry Christmas for every youngster in the city is already being planned by Mayor Heiselman, who will shortly name the city's Christmas Cheer Committee. Last year the committee distributed over 1,500 Christmas bags of toys, clothing, candy and fruit. Over $1,400 in cash was contributed to the fund, new toys were donated by merchants, hundreds of old toys were collected and rehabilitated and merchants sold their wares to the committee at cost.
 Added Christmas cheer was brought to the homes of many here last year and there is need of its continuance this year. This is a commendable work and the part played by the school boys and girls is worthy of special mention. The unselfish spirit displayed by the youngsters in this work is something for a city to be proud of and throtles many of the hard things too often said of the youth of today. The boys and girls who last year brought their toys to school for those less fortunate ones have expressed their eagerness to again help.

Police officers will soon make a house to house canvass for contributions of clothing, toys, etc., and Mayor Heiselman asks all to make an inventory of outgrown clothing, especially little warm overcoats.

The cooperation of all who helped to make last year's drive a success is again solicited.

THAT BUENOS AIRES PARTY

Here is a hemisphere of free, self-governing nations, big and strong enough to make a world in themselves if the Old World goes to pieces. Broad-minded Americans do not want to forsake Europe, but we can get along without Europe if we have to.

With Spanish and Portuguese America, and with Canada if she wants to come in, or without her if she hesitates, we make a powerful, almost self-sufficient region. It would have to be merely an informal association of nations governmentally equal, with Uncle Sam putting on no airs because of his superior power and trundling on so Latin tone. Such a friendly organization might amount to a guarantee of democracy, independence and economic safety in the western hemisphere, at least.

That seems to be what it's all about. Democratic consolidation of North and South America would be the first principle of American world policy, and perhaps friendly understanding with Great Britain and her Dominions would be the second. In recent years we have been concerned mainly with domestic affairs. Now foreign affairs grow more vital.

 Such cardinal developments of foreign policy will be worth watching.

SAFER AUTOS

With the opening of the first Auto Shows the public learns that there are fewer startling innovations than usual but more safety. On some cars there are no projections on the dash boards. Knobs and cranks have been recessed and are flush with the panel. There are electrical gear shifts worked by a key right under the wheel so that the driver's hand need never go far from the steering wheel.

Door handles have been curved to reduce projection. Some door locks tighten automatically when there is any contact at all. The backs of front seats are padded with live rubber. Vents in the top of the instrument panel permit warm air from the car heater to flow directly over the windshield to prevent clinging of heavy snow and sleet. Kidding is quieter than ever before.

Of course the new cars have power and beauty and modern appearance, but these things are stressed less than the safety provisions. Cars are made as mechanically safe as possible. The human element remains uncertain, but driver's license laws, education of young drivers and other measures are gaining popular support. The nation intends to enjoy this motor transportation to the fullest and safest extent.

THE CITIZEN'S JOB

There is a natural let-down after the excitement of a national political campaign, but the voter who lets this turn into a four-year period of civic lethargy is betraying both his government and his own interests.
 Democracy would work better than it does if more citizens maintained as lively interest in government—local, state and national—day after day as they show during campaigns and on election days.

How does an official administer his duties after he is sworn in? What sort of laws do legislators make and what influences their decisions?
 How does service received compare with taxes paid—in police and fire protection, public health and sanitation, public schools and so on? It is a citizen's duty to know the answers. It is easier to leave these problems to the professional politicians, but it isn't good citizenship or good sense to do so.

HOME TREATMENT OF BURNS

For years every first aid kit carried a bottle or tube of carrol oil for use in burns. It was a sticky or untidy method but gave ease and seemed to heal the average burn.

That carrol oil is helpful in other irritating conditions of the skin has been discovered by physicians who, having always a supply in their bag, tried it out on those other conditions.

As you know, 3 to 5 per cent tan-nic acid is now used for all degrees of burns instead of carrol oil. Carrol oil has been replaced in the kit bags by tannic acid.

A level teaspoonful of tannic acid to 20 teaspoonfuls of water gives the 5 per cent solution.

Two or three years ago it was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that if tan-nic acid were not available the use of strong tea would do equally well; tea is available in practically every household.

Dr. Stewart Middleton, Edinburgh, reports, "Some years ago I was able to treat alternate cases of a series of fairly severe scalds in children with tannic acid and tea. So far as results were concerned there was no difference between the two."
 The first aid purpose in the home the brew of tea should be of the "lumberjack" variety produced by boiling a handful of tea in a pan of water for a few minutes. Strips of linen may be sterilized by boiling them at the same time, then lifted out and allowed to drip until cooled to body temperature before being applied to the burn.

Dr. Donald K. Wells, in the Journal of the American Medical Association suggests immersing a badly burned patient in a tub filled with warm tannic acid solution—using enough tannic acid powder to give it a good muddy color. Fresh water is run in and the solution drained out continuously and more acid is added from time to time. The solution softens, loosens, and raises the destroyed tissue. For slight or medium burns spraying tannic acid over the burn with a fine sprayer or painting it on with a fine brush is now being used to a considerable extent.
 However, using a strong brew of tea in the best and simplest home treatment of burns.

It is not generally known that that strong tea was an old wives' method of treating burns and scalds in Scotland in earlier days.

BUT they were not married that night. Sally, on the way to the plane, trying to match Terry's long stride, tugged at his arm breathlessly.
 "Terry, we can't be married now.
 I don't know whenever we can be married."

Terry stopped short. "But you said..."

"I know. But we must wait. We mustn't even let anyone know we're engaged. Father and Mother can't do without my salary now. They've got to have the money, and I've no right to take it away from them until I've seen Ray safely off to school and got a place for Tip."

"Why didn't you say so, then, instead of yes?" said Terry suddenly.
 He turned away from her and stood by the plane, his hands plunged in his pockets. "That'll take years—and I'm leaving here in six months—I hope."

"Maybe you'll have to leave without me," said Sally. "We're both young. I could come to you later."

"That won't do," said Terry. "If I leave here without you, we'll never get married. You'll forget me."

"Let's not try to settle everything tonight," urged Sally. "Let's wait.
 We've got six months before you go.
 Maybe by that time I can see my way clear. So much can happen in six months."

"Sure it can. Maybe somebody will die and leave us a million."

And so it was settled that no one was to be told of the engagement until the six months were up. By the time Terry had brought the plane to a landing on the home field, he was in good spirits again.

"In six months," he boasted, "I'll make a fortune for you. I mean to begin teaching you right away."

Sally was too wise to let him know what dismay this proposal caused her.

They were very gay on the way home. Terry told her all about the interview with Willis Cates, who owned the largest block of stock in the air line where Terry hoped to make his fortune. Sally predicted that one day Terry would be seated behind a vast mahogany desk, telling other people where and how to fly, and money would ever make him give up flying itself.

Duke Has Tire Trouble

THE old car rattled around a bend in the country road and came suddenly upon a parked car. Terry rammed on the brakes.

"They're having trouble," said Sally, noticing someone standing by the car. "Maybe we'd better stop and see if we can help."

They got out and walked toward the car. As they did so, they saw a girl, who had been holding a flashlight for the man, cut off the switch and run behind the car.

"Come back here with that light," yelled the man.

"It's Duke Adams," said Terry.
 "What's the matter, old boy?"

Sally recognized Duke at once. He worked at the Maynard garage and was a flying pupil of Terry's.

"Been up tonight?" inquired Terry, holding his own light for Duke Adams to work by.

"Yep," Duke Adams worked at his tire, keeping his face turned from Sally. "Couple of passengers wanted to make a train at Raleigh I flew them over."

Suddenly a suspicion came to Sally.
 "Did my sister Tip fly with you tonight?" she asked quietly.

When Duke said nothing, and only stood there, fumbling with the wrench, Terry laughed. "Guiltily by the looks of him," he told Sally.
 "I didn't say a word," said Duke sullenly.

"Well, then, I will," said Tip Warren, coming around the side of the car to stand by him. "I went up with Duke. What of it?"

"That's the spirit," said Terry.
 "Come on and get in Terry's car," said Sally sternly. "We'll take you home."

"I'll have this tire fixed in a minute," said Duke.

"I'd better go with Sally, Duke," said Tip. "There'll be a terrible row if Sally gets in before I do."

"Just as you say," said Duke discomfitedly.

"Thanks for the ride. I had a perfectly swell time." Tip marched over to Terry's car and climbed in with all the dignity of a queen being kidnapped. Sally followed, furious with Tip for putting her in the position of a tyrant before Terry.

"Run away, didn't you?" queried Terry good-humoredly.

"Of course I did," said Tip. "It's the only way you can have any fun in Warren County—to run away."

"Right," said Terry. "Isn't it so, Sally?"

Sally gave in gracefully. She couldn't go on acting like a grandmother, even if Tip had scared her.

"Tip, you're a wretch and I ought to scold you, but I just can't. Promise me, though, one thing—if you have to fly, let Terry take you up."

"I'd love to," said Tip. "Wouldn't you love to take me, Terry?"

"Anything to keep on good terms with the family!"

Tip Flies With Terry

THEY all three reached the Warren house in high good humor. Before Terry drove away, it was arranged that Sally should get permission for Terry to take Tip up in his plane.

Sally was secretly relieved. She would not worry about Tip so much if Terry was looking after her.

It was only after Sally was un-dressed and lying beneath the blue patchwork quilt that she realized fully that she had promised to marry Terry Maynard, and that if she did she would be saying goodbye forever to Warren County and to the old, humdrum life of Sally Warren. The thought filled her with a delightful sense of excitement.

In the days that followed, Sally was too busy with her job and the demands on her time at home to spend much time with Terry. But she delighted in the knowledge that Terry was always near, ready to take her for an outing when she could spare a moment. And when Sally was too busy to go with him, Tip went, and Sally was glad that Tip was in safe hands. Somehow, Tip seemed to have grown up a little. She was more considerate of her mother and father, and gave up running around with some of the crowd. Ray Warren considered too "fast." Sally put it down to Terry's influence and to the fact that Tip was about to graduate from high school and realized that she must choose some sort of career for herself.
 None of them realized that Tip had already chosen her career.

Sally, herself, never dared to plan as far ahead as the end of the six months' grace she had asked of Terry —not even when two months had slipped by. She would not admit to herself that her salary was becoming more and more necessary to the Warrens. Tip had to have clothes for graduation, and some money had to be put in the bank toward Ray's medical course. The rest of Sally's salary went toward providing some comforts for the household, which had been hard put to it to make ends meet on Ray Warren's dwindling earnings.

TALKS TO

Vocabularies

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Intelligence tests for both children and adults are more and more concerned with the vocabulary of the person being examined. Educators and executives both have come to realize that the exchange of thoughts and ideas is a tremendously important factor in man's development.
 Even the ability to think constructively is to some extent conditioned by the ability to use words. Babies and even animals can think, but only in a vague, blind way. The baby, as he learns to speak, outgrows the animal and becomes a reasoning creature.

There is little in a child's education as useful and far-reaching as his control of language. The child who has a large vocabulary can understand both books and conversations which are far beyond the comprehension of his less fortunate contemporaries. Parents can do more than schools to help a child in this branch of learning. The minute a child starts to talk he is beginning to assemble his vocabulary. If the words he hears are limited in number and variety he will have a limited vocabulary.

It is not hard to learn new words and to teach them to the child. The tiny tot who has learned to listen to speech will adopt a new word just as he would a new toy. He knows instinctively that it is a valuable treasure, a means of exchange, and he pounces on it and makes it his own.

Most children, however, hear very little real conversation. Even in their early years at school they get little more. When they reach college, they often find it hard even to understand freshman year lectures, so accustomed are they to the few, four letter words of the average school course.

Every new word is like a new tentacle on a vine. The more tentacles a vine throws out, the faster and farther it can climb. Every new word a child learns stretches his potential power, and increases his contacts.

Sweet Face Follows

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WHEN the bears got back to Puddle Muddle they decided that the weather was still much too mild for them to go to sleep for the winter.

Instead, in spite of all they had eaten, they went off looking for more nuts. Christopher Columbus Crow let the sun shine on the bright coin he had been given as a reward, and then he put it away in his nest.

Rip, the dog, was busy with a bone he had put aside some time before, the ducks were receiving callers who were on their way to a warmer climate. Top Notch was fixing up his General Store, and only Sweet Face was not around.

Willy Nilly was quite sure the lamb was in his meadow and he thought he would make over the little wool coat and now it is so sweet.

But Sweet Face was not in his meadow. He had been wandering down the lower road of Puddle Mudle when he had seen some lambs in the distance. They were all following each other and there were a great many of them.

Sweet Face leaped and jumped along the road and joined the lambs.
 "Where are you going?" he asked.

"Baa, baa," they bleated in answer.
 "We don't know. Just follow along."

So Sweet Face followed the leader, and on and on he went with the other lambs.

After a little while he said:
 "Why am I going along with you?"

"No one knew the answer to this.
 Neither did Sweet Face, and what made it worse was that he was far from home before he thought of this question."

"I'm just a foolish lamb," he told himself, but it didn't make him feel any better to realize such a thing.

A Washington Daybook

By PRENTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Anyone longing for a minority in congress large enough to act as a brake on the administration evidently must look for it among factional groups within the Democratic membership.

The Republican senate membership of 23 in the last session has been scaled off a half dozen. The Democratic majority gaining correspondingly to a new top of 75 in the house the Republican minority of 103 was —also off by a dozen. The Democratic majority of 322 was augmented correspondingly.

Even in the past congress the Democratic majorities in the two houses were so preponderant that small cliques began to show influence. The group behind the Frazer-Lamson inflationary farm bill forced a house vote on it over administration opposition.

A determined little cluster of Democratic and Republican senators obtained action on a neutrality bill when there was evidence of leadership opposition.

Committees A Problem

OF COURSE those little things can happen on any legislative gathering, regardless of whether there is a large or small majority. But they show how opposition can be generated even in the face of smothering majorities.

The trimming down of the Republican minority presents a real prob-

Strike Ties Up
Milton School Job

Reportedly called out by walking delegates, union carpenters and bricklayers, employed by General Contractor Thomas G. Boechine in erecting a school building in Milton, are on strike, and progress of the work is being delayed.

The strike was called, it is stated, when the walking delegates claimed that Holsted & Romaine—a Newburgh firm which has the plumbing contract for the building—are hiring a man said to have been a "scab" on some other job, involving another firm, seven or eight years ago.

Holsted & Romaine and their men were not working on the Milton job when the strike was called. The firm had already completed its first work at the school, and the part on which he is employed is not yet begun.

The walking delegates demand that Holsted & Romaine discharge the alleged "scab" from the other job on which he is employed by the firm.

After a one day strike, in no way related to the Milton walkout, union carpenters and bricklayers have returned to work on the new Central School building in Marlborough. Unlike the Milton construction, the Marlborough job is a PWA project.

The Marlborough strike ended when the Millmet Construction Co. of Union City, N. J., granted the following demands of the workers:

Two hours' extra pay for Election Day to make up for not being allowed a two-hour holiday that day, such as New York city workers get; a stove placed in one of the school rooms where they could hang their coats, eat their lunches unannoyed by unskilled non-union laborers, and

Doughty Named
R. O. T. C. Sergeant

Cincinnati, Nov. 14—Among University of Cincinnati students flourishing in promotions announced today in the second cadet regiment of the Reserve Officers Training Corps here is Clayton B. Doughty of Napa, N. C.

Doughty has been advanced to the rank of sergeant and has been assigned to Battery "B." He is enrolled at the university here as a senior cooperative civil engineering student in the College of Engineering and Commerce.

A son of Bert C. Doughty, Napa, N. C., Doughty is a graduate of E. J. Jenette high school, class of 1932. Last year he was a cadet private in the R. O. T. C. at the local university.

Under the Cincinnati cooperative plan of technical education, established at the university here in 1906, students spend alternating periods in classroom and laboratory and at work in industry.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Possibly governmental action to stem the foreign buying rush in American securities today helped put a damper on the stock market.

While a few alcohol, amusement and aircraft stocks bucked the trend, and early losses of fractions to two or more points were later reduced in some instances, numerous recent leaders were substantially lower at the close. Transfers were around 1,150,000 shares.

The list attained speed on the initial downward push, but the pace slowed later as support arrived for many of the more depressed issues. While attributing the unsettled movement mainly to the administration's announcement it was studying the feasibility of putting the brakes on the rather large influx of foreign cash, brokers also gave thought to the rather violent post-election upturn as one of the reasons for what they termed a natural correction.

In the meantime business and industrial news continued as a cheering influence and important holders of stocks were said to be maintaining their positions.

Outstanding share losers included Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro, De Pasco, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Macy, International Harvester, A. I. I. Chemical, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Simmons Co., Johns-Manville and Crown Cork.

Charges of the securities and exchange commission against the brokerage firm of W. E. Hutton & Co., of manipulating the market in Atlas Tack were followed by a decline of more than two points in this issue.

Among gainers up to two were U. S. Industrial, American Commercial, Distillers Corp.-Seagrams, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft. Ahead were Libby McNeill & Libby Allied Stores and Lerner Stores.

No Change Seen in Foreign Trading in U. S. Securities

No plan for regulating foreign trading in U. S. securities is in immediate prospect, survey of federal agencies operating in foreign exchange and securities fields indicates. President Roosevelt declared undue accumulation of foreign money in domestic security markets would endanger market and world currency stability in future, but emphasized administration approach to problem is still in study stage. Action would necessitate legislation.

Total corporate and municipal bond offerings this year are expected to exceed $4,000,000,000, highest total since 1930.

Among yesterday's dividends were $2 declared by Pittsburgh Plate Glass at $1.50 paid October 1; $1 by McKeesport Tin Plate (regular quarterly) was paid October 1; 50 cents extra by General American Transportation; 37 1/2 cents extra by National Cigarette; 25 cents extra by Bay City Cigarette; Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt raised dividend to 40 cents from 12 1/2 cents paid September 1. Libby, McNeill and Libby declared initial $1 on common, offered stockholders option of taking common at $10 a share value instead of cash.

Two divisions of duPont announced seven per cent to ten per cent pay raise. An "upward revision," amounting to 10 per cent, was announced by U. S. Rubber; five per cent jump by Rittler Dental; ten per cent increase by Ludlow Manufacturing. Newport Rolling Mills, Andrews Steel joined steel companies declaring ten per cent raise. Several Connecticut textile mills announced ten per cent pay lifts. Packard raised pay five cents an hour. Tennessee Coal and Iron Railway raised wages ten per cent.

Third quarter net of Anaconda Copper qualified 47 cents a common share against 30 cents a year ago; United Carbon $1.23 vs. $1.07. International Paper reported $1.285, 464 net in quarter vs. loss of $901,626 year ago.

Net of American Car and Foundry in first five months of fiscal year to September 30 is estimated at $300,000 against net loss of $1,731,318 in six months to October 31, 1935. Sharon Steel October net was around $175,000; final quarter is expected to prove best three months in years.

Some leading department stores are faced with merchandise shortages, forecasts in industry this year are forecast at best level since 1929. Retailers are facing a tight situation. Random October shipments were $3,049,000, up 12.4 per cent over year ago; unfilled orders are now largest in company history, stated President J. H. Rand, Jr.

Baldwin Locomotive orders booked in October were $3,092,739 vs. $1,205,655 year ago.

Large Quantity of Produce Raised in City Relief Gardens

A report on the relief gardens conducted in the city last summer has been filed with Mayor C. J. Heiselman by the local ERB, and the report showed that considerable produce had been raised both in the municipal and home gardens. These gardens were planted by relief families.

Mayor Heiselman said today that he was greatly pleased with the report, which showed that the city had spent the sum of $1,569.95 for plots, inc. fertilizers and seedling the municipal gardens, and of that amount $747.99 had been reimbursed to the city by the state TERA.

Roy E. Jacob was supervisor of the garden project, and the mayor said that the city authorities were appreciative of the kindness of the Kingston Lumber Co. in granting the use of 20 acres of fertile land on the edge of lowlands for use as municipal gardens. The average garden on this tract raised produce to the value of $250, and there were 125 gardens on the tract, and an addition to them were 250 home gardens in the city.

The report showed that among the produce raised were 745 bushels of potatoes, 18,000 pounds of cabbage, 147 bushels of turnips, 560 bushels of carrots, 100 pounds of onions, 200 bushels of beets, besides large quantities of corn, tomatoes, squash, peas and other garden products.

From the produce raised in the gardens, 5000 cases on the home relief rolls earned 19,474 cents at home for winter consumption.

the troops but their progress was veiled by suburban hills.

Insurgents were concentrating on strengthening their positions between the scattered clashes. Long lines of sentries—50 yards apart—guarded roads along the western city limits to signal signs of government counter-attacks.

Socialist gunners showered the Fascist concentrations at Capamento and in the heavily wooded Casa Del Campo Park.

Fresh enthusiasm was exhibited among the government troops with the report Premier Francisco Largo Caballero had returned from Valencia to inspect general staff headquarters at Tarazona.

Gen. Jose Maja, president of the emergency defense council, remained in direct command of the troop action, despite the return of several cabinet members and many minor officials with Largo Caballero.

(Gen. Gonzalo Queipo De Llano, Fascist radio commentator, asserted in a broadcast from Seville the insurgents intend to cut the capital's water supply.

"Soon there will be no water in Madrid because we are going to cut off the supply," he said. "Without food, water, or munitions we shall see what sort of resistance the capital will put up.")

Will Remain "Dead"

Pittsburgh, Nov. 14 (AP)—A man legally dead for seven years—officially recorded as murdered—returned to his job as a farm hand today, satisfied to remain "dead." He is John Kachnyez who left his home in Pittsburgh in 1929, to work on farms in western Pennsylvania. Subsequently a friend identified the picture of a man killed in a quarrel as Kachnyez. A man was tried and acquitted for murdering him. Neighbors collected benefits under insurance policies on his life. Then he came back.

Keresman Elected 11th Time to Head Benevolent Group

Peter Keresman was elected president for the 11th consecutive time at the meeting of the Kingston Patrolman's Benevolent Association, Friday night at the city hall.

Other officers chosen were as follows: Vice president, Winfield Entrott; recording secretary, Frederick Stoudt; financial secretary, Peter Camp; treasurer, William Reardon.

All of the patrolmen named were re-elected to the office, except Officer Camp, his position being a new one on the list of P. B. A. heads.

Besides electing officers, the patrolmen conducted other important business, including the naming of committee chairmen for their annual ball which will be held in the Municipal Auditorium on Friday night, January 29.

The committee chairmen are: General chairman, Peter Keresman; vice chairman, Winfield Entrott; tickets, Sergeant James V. Simpson, refreshments, Clarence Brophy; program, Edward J. Leonard; stage and decorations, Ray Van Buren; check room, Earl Schoonmaker; children's matinee, William Leonard.

This year's ball will be bigger and better than ever, the patrolmen say, under the efficient supervision of the committeemen named, and President Keresman who has made an enviable record as a social worker in the past and also in other fields of police organization work.

President Keresman, besides holding the presidency of the Kingston P. B. A. for 11 straight years, is past president of the New York State Police Conference, and at present is secretary of that body for the fourth time.

Of all the committee chairmen, William Leonard has what is considered one of the most important positions to fill. The children's matinee is something entirely new in connection with staking a ball, and will take place on the afternoon of January 29.

"We have a junior patrol for traffic duty," said President Keresman, "and I think the children should come in for their share of enjoyment at the police ball. The cops will arrange a special show, entirely different from the one to be presented at the ball, and there will be a good time for all the little ones who attend."

Children from the public and parochial grade schools and from several homes in this vicinity, will be invited to the police show through their principals and guardians. The matinee may be held in the Kingston High School auditorium.

Albright Hearing Set for Tuesday

Some time ago an inquest was held before Coroner Lester DuBois to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of August Albright of Kingston, who was fatally injured at the Rondout Creek bridge entrance when he was struck by a truck operated by Mr. Black of Port Ewen. 3 Cash Registers in Candyland Were Robbed Last Night Peculiar circumstances surround the robbery of three cash registers in Candyland, at 324 Wall street, Friday night, a total of $10.50 in change being taken from the three machines.

One of the registers, which has an electric hook-up, was taken down into the cellar and the drawer pulled open with an ice pick. The thief took care to disconnect the electric wire before moving the machine from its place near the end of the candy counter near the front of the store, evidently being aware of the fact that unless he did so removal of the register would affect the lighting system.

The other two registers were of the ordinary kind and it was not necessary to take them from the place where they stood.

Proprietor George Savatky said he and Mrs. Savatky left the restaurant about 10-15 Friday night and the loss was not discovered until the store was opened up shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. One of the employees went down into the cellar to turn on the gas heater and noticed the register lying on the floor at the entrance to the boiler room.

He notified Mr. Savatky, who made an investigation and discovered that all three of his registers had been rifled of their contents, but so far as he could see nothing else had been taken, although a complete check-up would be rather difficult unless a considerable amount of candy and cigar stock had been removed.

Mr. Savatky said that doors and windows were found locked this morning and he could give no explanation of how the thief got into the place, unless possibly he had been there when they left for the night, or had in some way secured a pass-key.

The robbery was reported to the police department and an investigation is being conducted.

DEFY WINTER'S DULLNESS WITH GROWING PLANTS

Green plants and blooming flowers in the house during winter become such personal pets that there is always a feeling of real loss if they die. Yet all they require is a little understanding care to keep gaily smiling at you all winter.

Don't Coddle Aspidistra

Aspidistra withstands drafts, gas fumes, smoke, dust, darkness and drought, and its glossy green leaves keep bravely growing and brightening a dark corner, or looking very decorative on a living-room table. Then, next spring, you may divide it into several good plants, for each of these long leaves has a separate root and is easily separated and repotted.

The dracaena is another popular house plant, but don't encourage it too much with loving care or it may shoot up ten feet tall. Actually, it it does start to grow too fast, just cut off the top and use that to start a new plant.

Of course there are many other house plants, as the hyacinth, paper-white narcissus, nasturtium, portulaca, heliotrope, lily-of-the-valley, pansy and others.

Whether you have a dozen pet plants, a pot of geraniums, or a sprig of ivy in water, you will find splendid advice on indoor gardening and hints on how to arrange your house plants effectively in our new 40-page booklet, SUCCESS WITH HOUSE PLANTS AND FLOWERS. Why not send for a copy tonight?

Send 15c for our booklet, SUCCESS WITH HOUSE PLANTS AND FLOWERS, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Jackets in Good Shape for Game With Watervliet Sunday at 2:30

Coach Jerry Dunn hopes to see his Brown Servicenter Yellow Jackets put up one of the best games of the season Sunday at the Fair Grounds against the Watervliet Garnets. Starting time is 2:30 o'clock.

"The Waps are in good shape," said Dunn today. "and I think they should go like a house on fire Sunday against the Garnets." Jerry had the Servicenter lads out for two drills this week, streaming signals and going through scrimmage workouts. Eddie Minasian, who is calling signals now, since Jimmy Cullum quit the grid sport, will bark out the numbers. Dunn liked the way the Banana King followed the numbers against the Artillery last week, and counts a lot on his judgment tomorrow.

Working in the backfield with Minasian will be "Zip" Zacheo, the star of the Artillery game, who scored two of Kingston's touchdowns and otherwise featured with long gains on the Soldiers; also Bill Thomas and Mac Tiano, two other gridgers, who helped to make things unpleasant last week by turning in a touchdown apiece, and romping over the field for nice gains.

Other good news to Yellow Jackets fans is that Tony Debrosky will be back, also Gerald Fitzgerald and Bill Van Dorase, who were laid up with injuries.

Debrosky and Van Dorase are ends and Fitzgerald a tackle. The two wingmen were hurt in the game against the New Jersey team two weeks ago, and "Fitzer" in the Hudson River.

Eddie Burgevin, injured in the Artillery game, will be out Sunday, during a bad shoulder. Dunn has not announced his complete lineup, and won't until game time.

He is certain that the Garnets will drag along some of the Albany Knickerbocker players, including Buckley, one of the Capital City stars.

Army-Notre Dame Game Holds Lure

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—While hundreds of would-be spectators were still outside offering $50 and up for a pair of tickets anywhere in Yankee Stadium, the football elvans of Army and Notre Dame lined up for their annual "big show" today before a crowd of more than 80,000.

Although Army was upset by Colgate, and Notre Dame dropped decisions to Navy and Pitt, this yearly battle held all the lure built up through the 22-year history of the rivalry.

The 77,000 regular seats were sold out a week ago. Three thousand temporary seats, erected to meet additional demands, also went like hotcakes, with the result that spectators found their business red hot. Although Army had been rated a 6 or 7 favorite in the odds, the pregame books, the rival outfits went into action at even money, or 6-5 and take your choice.

Long Grid Rivalry Carries on Today

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP)—The Yales and Larry Kelley, the Princeton and their powerhouse, and the longest continuous gridiron rivalry in football history held their 60th roundup today, before a capacity crowd of 57,000.

The Princeton was a slight favorite to repeat their 1935 triumph and make it 19 victories to 31 for the Yells, with 19 ties in the long rivalry dating back to '73. With Larry Kelley in there for the Yales, anything was likely to happen.

Two years ago Yale's rugged individualist, the sophomore, caught the pass that beat a highly-favored Tiger eleven. Last year, despite the 38-7 Princeton conquest, Kelley was as tough as ever.

ChurchCageLeague Games and Dance At the "Y" Monday

A large crowd is expected to attend the Church League basketball games and dance to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night and an enjoyable evening is in store for those who do turn out. The schedule:

7:15—Clinton Avenue Aces vs. First Dutch.

8—Port Ewen M. E. vs. Redsemer.

8—Comforter Missions vs. Comforter Aces.

The feature of the evening is the game at 8 o'clock between the strong Port Ewen and Redsemer fives. The Redsemer will be out to stop the 14-game winning streak of the defending champions. The first game pits the Clinton Avenue Aces, who are also in the running for top honors, against the First Dutch.

The finale should afford plenty of action as acute rivalry exists between the two Comforter teams. Both teams will be seeking their first victory. Immediately following the last game, dancing will be held on the gym floor.

SOFTBALL BANQUET POSTPONED BY CLUBS

The Federated Men's Clubs of Kingston and vicinity have indefinitely postponed the softball banquet that they were sponsoring on November 18 at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

The time for this banquet will not be decided until a meeting is called of the Federation, and at the present time, such a meeting seems unlikely. One of the reasons given by the publicity agent of the organization for the postponement, was the apparent lack of interest.

KELLY WINS MATCH FROM PLANTHABER BY 125-50 SCORE

Making a high run of 21, George Kelly, national pocket billiard champion, defeated Fred Planthaber, 125-50 Friday before a large gallery of spectators at the Y. M. C. A. Patted by a heavy schedule, Kelly was not so impressive as expected, in his match with the local shark, but made up for it when he put on his fancy and trick shots.

Two tie breakers: Harry Durlin of the Flatbush road and Henry Swarthout, 49 Ten Brook avenue, hunting near Oak Brook this week, shot a 125 pound deer.

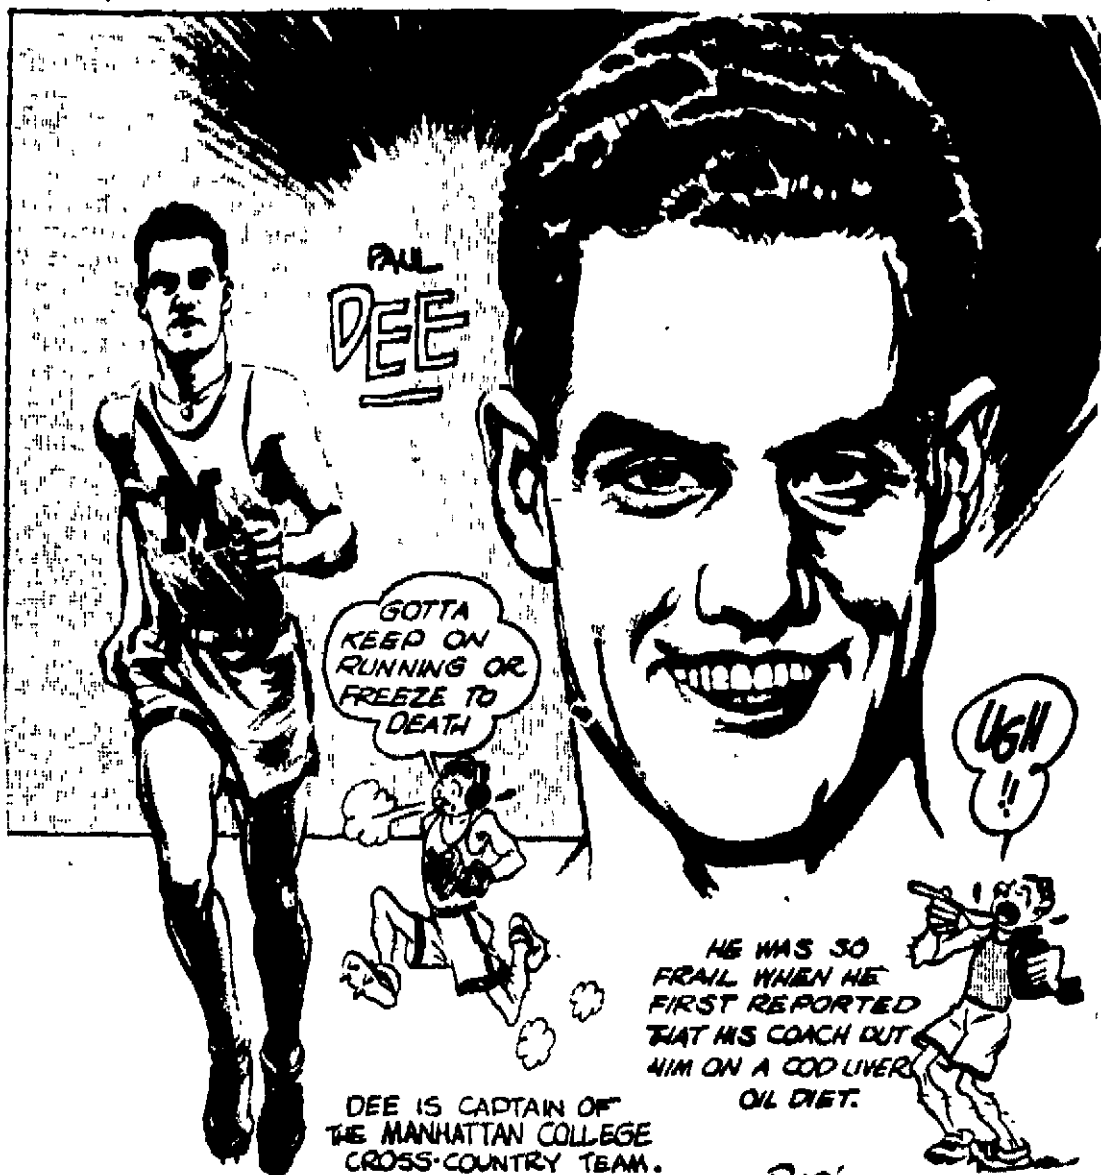

Name "Hurricane" Traced

A god of the Caribbean, "Hurricane" is responsible for the name most frequently applied to tropical storms. Born in the belt of calm air over the Atlantic ocean just north of the equator, hurricanes are greatly affected by the earth's rotation. Winds, which otherwise would blow directly toward the rainstorm center, are deflected to the right, and rotating winds began to move at speeds from 30 to 120 miles an hour.

Johnson Fastidious in Dress

Andrew Johnson, while occupying the White House, was fastidious in his dress, and particular to the point of fastidiousness. He always wore a frock coat and high standing collar, well fitting shoes or boots and carefully cut trousers. His biographers say that he was among "the most perfect types of American manhood; that he was of perfect mold and splendid physique."

Hardy Harrier

As the five Manhattan college boys romped across the finish line to earn a perfect score in defending their Metropolitan cross-country championship against the teams of Fordham, Columbia and the College of the City of New York it was only natural to comment on what a fine looking group of youngsters they were. They had just completed a 5-mile run over the hills and dales of Van Cortlandt park in upper New York city.

"There is every reason in the world why they should look fine and healthy," replied Peter Waters, veteran Manhattan track coach. "Exercising out here in the open as they do in preparing for these cross-country races the best thing in the world for them. They need it after being shut up in classrooms all day."

Coach Waters should know whereof he speaks. He has been tutoring Manhattan track teams for 13 years or more. And cross-country running has always been the foundation on which he has built his track teams. His Manhattan hill-and-dale runners have won all sorts of cross-country championships, including the I. C. A. title.

But a great part of the cross-country running done by the Manhattan athletes is planned primarily to give them a foundation for the winter meets on the board tracks and for the meets in the spring. It has worked out extremely well in Manhattan's case, for Coach Waters' charges are preparing to defend the I. C. A. indoor track and field championship, which they have held for the past three years.

Plans Progress For Braddock's Fight With Louis on February 22

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Despite the howls of various outraged boxing authorities, it appeared likely today that proposed no-decision fight between Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock and Detroit's dusky Joe Louis would take place in Atlantic City February 22 as planned. There was even a possibility that the contracts would be signed today.

Herman (Mugsy) Taylor of Philadelphia, who first thought up the idea, said yesterday he had secured the $100,000 demanded as "Evidence of good faith" by Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, and that he hoped to clear away the remaining obstacles today in a conference between Mike Jacobs, who represents Louis, and Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden. Both Jacobs and Kilpatrick said, however, that they knew nothing of such a meeting.

Taylor obtained the money in Philadelphia from James Lafontaine, retired Washington sportsman, who confirmed the fact. Then he jumped to Atlantic City to inspect the big convention hall where he plans to stage the bout before some 40,000 customers.

Some Objections

The promoter also revealed that Gould had agreed to a cut in the original $400,000 guarantee offered Braddock to $200,000 and a 50-50 split of any gate receipts above $300,000. The next move is to persuade Kilpatrick to accept an interest in promoting the bout and thus give off any legal repercussions. The Garden has a contract for Braddock to meet Max Schmeling next June in his first title defense.

Principal objections, in addition to Kilpatrick's, are the consequences of a possible knockout victory for Louis, which would make a Schmeling-Braddock affair just about useless, were Edward C. Foster of Providence, R. I., executive secretary of the National Boxing Association, and Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Foster telegraphed Joseph MacLoney, N. B. A. president and secretary of the New Jersey State Athletic Commission, protesting against the bout "unless some is killed as purely an exhibition."

Phelan Will Watch

Phelan officially decided to watch until next week, when Gould is due to post $5,000 and sign an agreement that Braddock will fight Louis as scheduled next June.

charges are preparing to defend the I. C. A. indoor track and field championship, which they have held for the past three years.

Captain Gains Weight

"There is nothing like cross-country running to build the boys up," said Coach Waters. "Take the case of Paul Dee, captain of this year's cross-country team. Paul was a scrawny little fellow when he first came out for the sport. He was so frail looking that we prescribed cod liver oil for him. He has put on 20 pounds since then, and, with the added weight, now speed and stamina have come."

"The cases of Joe Molclair and Bob Conking are similar. They are only sophomores but I can see them developing and thriving under this cross-country work. Molclair is going to be another Jackie Ryan."

This Jackie Ryan has long held a warm spot in Coach Waters' heart. When Ryan first reported to the Manhattan coach, he weighed less than 100 pounds, and looked anything but a potential champion. The process of building up was a slow one. But the youngster loved to run and did most of his running over the hills of Van Cortlandt park.

His efforts were well rewarded in the end, for he wound up his varsity career by winning the outdoor 3,000-meter title at the Intercollegiate A. A. A. championships in the Harvard stadium. More than that, when he left college he was at least 35

Mammoth Broth

The biggest broth of recent times was brewed at the revival of the famous old-time Gypsy party at Baidon, Yorks, says London Tit-Bits Magazine. Five thousand guests partook of it, and more than 3,000 pounds sterling was raised for charity in the carnival that followed.

The broth, which was made from an ancient recipe, was composed chiefly of 1,000 pounds of vegetables plus 600 pounds of peas, 500 pounds of meat, and 60 pounds of condiments. There were also scores of chickens and little-known herbs to give it piquancy. The preparation alone took three days and the cooking twenty-four hours! This broth is reminiscent of a certain very holy soup made once in seven years by the monks of a remote monastery in the Keun Lun mountains on the borders of Tibet. It is brewed in immense iron cauldrons, each eight feet high, and the pilgrims walk slowly round the rim of raised platforms. Sometimes their religious fervor exceeds their discretion and they plunge head first in, to become part of the soup.

Soldiers' Loss

The Battery A basketball team lost to the Cairo Alumni, 25-26, at the 156th Field Artillery Armory, Friday night, and the Battery A seconds bowed to the Five Fingers, 9-24.

Franklin Popular in Paris When Benjamin Franklin, the American commissioner, reached Paris in 1776 he was welcomed with wonderful unanimity. His fame as a philosopher, his unflinching good humor, the dignity, self-possession, and ease of his manners, the plainness of his dress, his habit of wearing his straight, thin gray hair without powder, contrary to the fashion of that day in France, acted as a spell. Yet he is credited with saying "Let to please myself, but dress to please others."

Every wise home-owner and business-owner carries insurance—but if he is really wise, he will realize that he can never completely pay for the results of a fire. He will realize that prevention is better than cure—and that systematic fire prevention, carried on by every individual as well as by the authorities, is good business that keeps money in all our pockets.

Take Hills in Stride

Cross-country running is the thing to do at Manhattan college. In the early fall the athletes confine their efforts to jogging around on the flat but before long they get the urge to romp over the hills. Most of the boys would much rather run over the hills than stay on the flat. They well know that after every hill comes a dale and that, together with the constant change of scenery, makes the training more pleasant and interesting.

"The boys really learn the mechanics of running on the hills," explained Coach Waters. "They soon learn the importance of carrying their weight properly and how to use it to create momentum on the down grades. It brings continuity of motion as well as continuity of deep breathing. It gives them a chance to fill their lungs with good, clean air, and at the same time the exercising is bound to strengthen their lungs and increase their capacity."

"Cross-country running can be overdone by too much racing. Up here at Manhattan we take our distance running seriously and strive to excel but not to the point where the efforts place too great a physical strain on growing boys."

Anyone looking at Manhattan's squad of hill-and-dale runners would be quick to agree with their coach that the work he prescribes is mighty good for them.

Announcements Made by Firms Representing Cross-Cut of American Business and Industry Reveal Economic Upsurge.

ers Join Prosperity Parade.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (AP)—To a fresh flood of income for workmen in various parts of the nation was added today a wage boost of seven and a half cents an hour to warehousemen on the west coast.

Their strike against San Francisco and Oakland grocery wholesalers was ended last night with an agreement whereby their pay was raised from 62 1/2 cents to 70 cents an hour. The announcement came in the wake of dozens of other upland revisions in compensation of workers employed by firms representing a cross cut of American business and industry.

The Packard Motor Car Company announced at Detroit yesterday increases of five cents an hour for 10,579 hourly wage employees and $10 a month for 511 salaried workers receiving less than $200 a month.
The aggregate payroll increase, said President Alvan Macauley, would be $1,250,000 a year.

At Richmond, Va., the Du Pont Rayon Company raised wages seven to 10 per cent yesterday for 3,000 employees and similar increases totaling an unofficially estimated $425-000 a year went into effect at 3 1/2 Du Pont De Nemours and Company's Old Hickory units at Nashville, Tenn., employing 5,500.

The Mt. Clemens, Mich., Pottery Company notified employees of a bonus totaling $50,000 on December 11 and a Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., the Northwestern Leather Company announced wage increases of five per cent to 900 employees.

Textile Increases
In the textile field thousands of workers were cheered by news of fatter pay envelopes.

The Lorraine Manufacturing Company at Pawtucket raised its salary outlay $260,000 per year by increasing hourly and piece rates 10 per cent for 2,700 cotton-rayon and woolen division employees, and similar increases granted by other cotton or woolen plants in Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island and Maine raised to some 15,000 the number of New England textile hands benefiting.

Raises at an undisclosed rate were ordered for 5,000 workers in the footwear factory of U. S. Rubber Products, Inc., at Naugatuck, Conn.
Advances of from five to 10 per cent for all employees, about 4,000, were voted by the Simonds Saw and Steel Company, with units at Fitchburg, Mass., Lockport, N. Y., and Chicago among other cities.

Iron Company Gains
The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company's mining department announced minimum increases of 5 1/2 cents per hour at Ishpeming, Mich.

The Ritter Dental Manufacturing Company of Rochester, N. Y., for the second time in 1936 raised salaries of 650 employees five per cent.

Earlier in the week the Eastman Kodak Company at Rochester, N. Y., declared a $2,220,000 wage dividend, $1,000,000 greater than employees received in 1935.

Cutler Hammer, Inc., announced distribution of $225,000 to 2,750 employees in New York and Milwaukee.
The Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company of Pontiac, Mich., ordered a five cents an hour pay increase and distribution of $250,000 "appreciation fund."

At the Johns-Manville plant, Manville, N. J., 1,500 workers were ap-prized of a five per cent increase.

The Simmons Company announced a $300,000 Christmas bonus for 12-000 workers at Kenosha, Wis., and 17 branch plants.

A five per cent raise went into effect for 2,000 receiving less than $2-500 a year at the Calco Chemical Company, Round Brook, N. J.

An added outlay of $100,000 per year was involved in the Chicago Motor Coach Company's announcement of five cents an hour boosts for drivers and three cents for shop employees, the latter to be augmented each six months by two and half cents more.

The Royal Typewriter Company at Hartford, Conn., raised 5,000 employees' wages 5 1/2 to 8 per cent.

Oppose Increase In Freight Rates

Albany, Nov. 14.—(Special)—Opposition to proposals of railroads to increase fifth and sixth class freight rates is being voiced by the State Department of Agriculture and Markets. It was known here today.

Directing the department's traffic bureau to stand against the proposed increases, Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck called attention to the detrimental effect on producers and shippers if the rates are raised. In a brief submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Director L. J.
Dorr, of the traffic bureau, pointed out that with the exception of peaches and grapes, New York state fresh fruits and vegetables and hay more almost entirely on class rates.
"During the 1934-35 shipping season, approximately 35,000 carloads of fresh fruits and vegetables were shipped by rail from New York state regions," the brief recites. "Of this amount fully 85 per cent, or about 30,000 carloads, moved on fifth class rates."

In 1934 and 1935, when the Interstate Commerce Commission granted emergency charges to carriers, the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets obtained exemption for nearly all agricultural products in this state.
It is alleged that if the proposed rates would be lost if the latest proposals are acted upon favorably by the I.
C. C.

The brief charges that "under the terms of the carriers' proposal to increase the fifth class percentage, dairy farmers in New York who must purchase grain products in less than carload lots, would be required to pay transportation charges approximately 15 per cent higher than for similar movements in the south." Commissioner Ten Eyck holds that "the farmer does not fix or control the price which the markets offer for his products. No matter whether the compensation he receives comes in the form of net proceeds remitted to him by factors on consignment shipments, or in the form of F. O. B. prices paid by shippers who buy at country stations, the transportation charges are always deducted or taken into account before the farmer gets his share of what the market offers."

When transporting charges are increased, he contended, the farmer has not means of compelling the market to offer more money for his product to absorb the increased costs, and the burden falls upon him with its whole weight unless he finds some efficient substitute at lower prices.

In the event the I. C. C. grants the railroads' petition, the Department of Agriculture and Markets is expected to seek immediate suspension of the tariffs, and institute an investigation to determine the reasonableness of the proposed rates.

Police Search for Little Girl's Slayer

Chicago, Nov. 14 (AP)—Shocked and grim-visaged squads of policemen pressed a city-wide search today for a ruthless attacker who left five-year-old Antoinette Tirtilili with her throat cut and bleeding to death in a school yard where she resisted his advances.

A hasty transfusion of blood from her mother proved futile and the little girl died last night in the operating room of the county hospital.

Police department veterans characterized the slaying as unparalleled in ferocity since Janet Wilkinson, 6, was murdered by a degenerate in 1919 and buried in a coal pile in the basement of the apartment building where she lived.

Antoinette, almost incoherent from fright and pain, was unable in a short period of consciousness to describe the slayer, except that he was white.

"I was playing in the school yard when he came up and grabbed my hand and offered to get me some candy," she sobbed.

"I was afraid and tried to get away, but he pulled me around to the back of the school. He swore at me and took out a knife. I screamed and he hit me across the neck with the knife and ran away and left me on the ground."

Slash wounds on Antoinette's left hand were evidence of her vain attempt to ward off the blade which penetrated her throat.

She staggered from the alley moaning, and was noticed by Romeo Torillo, 17, and his cousin, Santos Callejudo, 17. They carried her to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tirtilili.

Antoinette's mother, Anna, 38, stopped a truck and the driver raced with the dying girl and her mother to the hospital.

Tirtilili, employed by the WPA as a charity worker, and his wife have two other daughters, eight and two years old.

THREE CARS BEFORE JUDGE CULOTON HERE

Ernest Deane of Tilden was arrested last night for public intoxication on Murphy street. This morning Judge Culoton in police court imposed a fine of $5. Hugh Mc-Tigue of this city was fined $2 for failure to observe a full stop sign.
Another charge of double parking on Wall street was lodged against him and on that charge sentence was suspended. Harrison Crawford of Ellenville, charged with driving a car with four riding in the front seat, had his hearing set down for Monday.

And now for a little while there will be no premiums on robbery.

Clark Howell, Editor Dies At Atlanta

Governor Samuel J. Tilden of New York that definitely ended the talk of nomination by the Democrats of the "old ticket" and paved the way for the nomination and election of Grover Cleveland to the presidency.
The assignment was difficult:
Other men had failed to see the governor. He had refused all visitors.
Clark Howell set out for the governor's mansion armed only with a letter from his father, Capt. Evan P.
Howell.

Howell said he was admitted to the home in Gramercy Park and left to wait in the parlor.
"In a few minutes," he recalled,
"I heard a limping, shuffling walk.
The governor slowly entered the room with an apparently partially paralyzed arm across his breast and speaking scarcely above a whisper in his greeting."
"I told him the purpose of my visit and asked him for a statement. He shook his head pitifully and his only reply was: 'Look at me; don't you see it is impossible!'"

First Page Feature
"I saw at once that the talk of the renomination of the 'old ticket' was an end—it was the first page feature of most American newspapers the next morning. Cleveland was nominated and Governor Tilden died shortly after."
The Constitution's winning of the Pulitzer prize for "meritorious service" a few years ago was another accomplishment of which the editor was proud.

The award was given for exposure of political conditions at the Atlanta City hall that resulted in chain gang sentences for several officials and the removal of others.

Although he served the nation on various temporary commissions, Howell declined several diplomatic posts offered him in 1933.

At that time an Associated Press news dispatch from Washington stated him out because of his stand, saying:

"Literally besieged by job hunters, the administration found one man today who does not care for one of the political plums—Clark Howell, Atlanta publisher."

The dispatch added that Howell had refused a choice of several am-bassadorships, including those to Brazil, Argentina, Peru, Poland and Turkey, saying that he felt he could be of more service to the President and to the nation in his capacity as publisher of the Constitution.

Several Survivors
The editor is survived by his widow, the former Mrs. Margaret Cannon Carr, of Durham, N. C., four sons including Clark Howell, Jr., the general manager of the Constitution, and four sisters, Miss Rosalie Howell of New York, and Mrs. R. L. Foreman, Sr., Mrs. R. G. McAllister, and Mrs. A. A. Heidenreich, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services are to be held Sunday but the hour and other details had not been determined early today.
